A Virtual Gala
to Raise Cystic Fibrosis Awareness & Support the Search for a Cure

Saturday, October 17, 2020
Dear Friends,

Welcome to CFRI’s A Breath of Fresh Air, an exciting virtual community celebration and fundraising event. Today we celebrate the enormous progress that has been made in the field of cystic fibrosis (CF). Thanks to the support of people like you, those with CF are living longer and enjoying a better quality of life. We are immensely proud that CFRI is a part of these advances through our research, education and support programs, and delighted that you are a part of it.

This year, CFRI is celebrating 45 years of CF research and services to the CF community. We remain steadfast in our mission to be a global resource for the cystic fibrosis community while pursuing a cure through research, education, advocacy, and support. We all play a role in CFRI’s mission, and we are honored by the engagement of our caring and committed community.

We are grateful to you for your focus on CF research, especially during this very challenging time. We thank our generous sponsors and donors, whose support makes this event possible. Tonight we will raise funds to award CF research grants to outstanding scientists across the country. By being here with us this evening, you are part of our future progress.

Together, we inspire. Together, we have hope. Together, we can find a cure.

Wishing you safety and good health,

Bill Hult
President, CFRI Board of Directors

Executive Director, CFRI
Today we thank the cystic fibrosis (CF) community — it was your dream that became our mission. For our scientists, developing medicines is the most gratifying team sport, but at the end of the day, you are our inspiration. Without your dedication and involvement, we wouldn’t be where we are today.

On behalf of the entire Vertex family, we would like to congratulate CFRI for celebrating their 45th anniversary!

Cystic Fibrosis Research, Incorporated (CFRI)

Mission
To be a global resource for the cystic fibrosis community while pursuing a cure through research, education, advocacy, and support.

Our Vision
To find a cure for cystic fibrosis while enhancing quality of life for the CF community.

What is Cystic Fibrosis?
Cystic fibrosis is a genetic disease that affects the respiratory, digestive and reproductive systems. Thick mucus blocks small passageways in the lungs, intestines and other organs. This mucus also traps bacteria, leading to serious infections and progressive lung and other organ damage.

Early treatment, which may include nutritional and respiratory therapies, medications, and exercise, has a significant impact on the quality of life of those with CF. While innovative research, new medications, improved therapies, and lung transplantation are prolonging and enhancing the lives of those with CF, it remains a life-shortening disease for which there is no cure.

CFRI Programs and Services
CFRI funds CF research at universities and medical facilities throughout the United States. Our investment in new ideas has led to significant breakthroughs that bring us closer to a cure.

CFRI provides educational resources to a diverse CF community, including conferences, video podcasts, online programming, and informational publications that are distributed around the globe.

CFRI supports and connects our community through retreats, support groups and community events; provides information and referral services; and supports mental health services that improve the quality of life of those impacted by the disease.

CFRI raises awareness of cystic fibrosis and advocates on the state and federal level on issues impacting access to therapies, research funding and quality care for those with CF.

2020 Cystic Fibrosis Champion Awardee:

Mary Helmers, RN

CFRI honors Mary Helmers, RN, Pediatric CF Clinic Coordinator at the Stanford CF Center. Mary graduated with her Bachelor’s Degree in Nursing from the University of San Francisco in 1983. She started her nursing career at the VA hospital in San Francisco, but her passion was pediatrics and she moved on to Children’s Hospital at Stanford in 1985, where she now has over 35 years of experience caring for children, teens, and young adults with acute and chronic illnesses. In addition, Mary has worked with CF patients and their families, first at the bedside and then in the outpatient setting, where she currently works as the Pediatric Cystic Fibrosis Nurse Coordinator.

Mary’s goal is to support children and families with CF and help them to live their best lives possible; in doing so, she helps families to cope with the challenges of CF. As a vital member of the Stanford CF team, she has deepened the support offered to patient and families by collaborating with the Parent Advisory Board, Adult Advisory Council, and sitting on a National Committee for Transition. She is currently working on a Transition Quality Improvement project with the Adult CF clinic to assist in giving patients and families a smooth transition from Pediatric to Adult CF care.

Mary has been an active member of the CFRI Community for decades. She has been a Mothers’ Day Tea/Celebration sender for many years; was named CFRI’s CF Professional of the Year in 2004, and has presented on “Traveling with CF: Tips to Be Prepared,” as part of CFRI’s CF Community Voices podcast series.

We celebrate Mary’s many contributions to the CF community!
